

NAME: _____

DATE: _____

Using Correlative Conjunctions

DIRECTIONS: - Use correlative conjunctions to combine the following sets of sentences.

- For the first five items, use the correlative conjunctions in parentheses.
- For the second five items, use the correlative conjunctions that best fit the meaning of the sentences.

EXAMPLES	My sister and I visited friends in Brazil last year. We went on an excursion through the rainforest. (not only...but also)
	My sister and I not only visited our friends in Brazil last year, but we went on an excursion through the rainforest.

1. We saw paintings at the museum. We saw sculptures at the museum. (not only...but also)

2. Jacob may go to the museum. Penelope may go to the museum. (either...or)

3. He does not like pumpkin pie. He does not like blueberry pie. (neither...nor)

4. Because it was getting late, we had to choose. We could watch a movie or play a board game. (whether...or)

5. While we were at the park, we had a picnic. We also played frisbee. (both...and)

NAME: _____

DATE: _____

6. She visited the Eiffel Tower. She climbed to the top of the structure.

7. At school, we work on our writing. We do math problems.

8. The film is entertaining. It is also intense.

9. She studies hard. She works well with others.

10. After finishing the book, I had to decide. I could read the sequel or I could watch the film adaptation.

NAME: _____

DATE: _____

Answer Keys:

(Answers will vary. These are sample answers.)

1. We not only saw paintings at the museum, but we also saw sculptures.
2. Either Jacob or Penelope may go to the museum.
3. He likes neither pumpkin pie nor blueberry pie.
4. Because it was getting late, we had to choose whether to watch a movie or play a board game.
5. While we were at the park, we both had a picnic and played frisbee.
6. Not only did she visit the Eiffel Tower, but she also climbed to the top of the structure.
7. In Florence, we either spent our time in museums or window-shopped and drank hot chocolate at outdoor cafes.
8. The road from Florence to Pisa is both short and scenic.
9. Not only does the famous Leaning Tower of Pisa lean, but it is also still in danger of collapse.
10. After finishing the book, I had to decide whether to read the sequel or watch the film adaptation.